ANNUITY SPOUSAL WAIVER OF DEATH BENEFIT CONSENT FORM

You indicated on your annuity application that you are currently married; however, the primary beneficiary on the application form was not your spouse. Your State's community property law requires that you must obtain your spouse's consent for any designation that does not allow your spouse to receive the annuity's death benefit. If your spouse agrees to waive this right, your spouse will need to complete and sign this waiver and have his or her signature notarized.

I, _____ of legal age and first being duly sworn upon (Name of current or former spouse) oath, do state that I hereby waive any and all rights or interest I may have in said Annuity issued by American Fidelity Assurance Company, to _____ on the _____ day of _____ _____ .

I further state that I understand that such waiver and relinquishment in and to all interest in and to said annuity will forever preclude me from having any right of control over said annuity including, but not limited to, making any change in ownership and/or beneficiary of said annuity. This waiver is made pursuant to all laws and jurisprudence including, but not limited to, community property rights, which I may or may not have under the laws of this state or any other state.
